Profile

Computer Science undergraduate with a background in economics and finance. I build backend systems and AI-powered applications, from a Java workflow engine to NutriMind. My goal is to grow as a software engineer in Big Tech and help build products that serve millions of users.

Selected Projects

NutriMind | GitHub

Developed a nutrition diary for mobile and web. Users can photograph meals, review recognized ingredients and portions, track nutrition goals, and ask an AI assistant about their diary. Built with Flutter, Next.js, FastAPI, PostgreSQL and Gemini.

Task Manager Workflow Engine | GitHub

Built a Java 21 and Spring Boot engine for JSON-defined workflows, with GraalVM JavaScript transforms, PostgreSQL JSONB, draft and publish versions, cron schedules, webhooks and configurable retries.

Student Course Enrollment | GitHub

Modeled courses, teacher assignments and student enrollments in a layered Spring Boot backend using JPA and MySQL.

Client-Service Manager | GitHub

Built a Java, Spring Boot and MySQL backend for tracking services and handling client requests with role-based access.

Hackathons and Conference

Meta Global AI Developer Hackathon. Participant, Oct–Nov 2026. Meta and Cerebral Valley organized the event with a total prize pool of $1,000,000. Event details
